All batteries are to be instructed as to the positions of Russian units which respond to their advances and may not fire on them. However, since "the enemy is perfidious and without honor," German soldiers are instructed with the view of visiting the Russian lines for fraternization are to be guarded closely and riflemen in the nearest trenches must be in readiness at all times to fire if necessary.

Reports concerning the difficult situation of the Russian army are accentuated in information received by the Paris Press, according to which German reinforcements are massing on that part of the eastern front held by the Russians, and the latter are endeavoring to induce Russian divisions to march upon Jassy.

The chief agitator in the Russian army is said to be M. K. Kiselevsky, who was born in Bulgaria, but formerly was one of the Socialist leaders in Russia.

The nineteen allied military missions which left the Russian front before Gen. Dukhovich was killed are reported to have been at Rogozhetsk Tuesday on their way to Kiev. It is expected that the missions will proceed to Jassy, with the junior officers remaining at Mogilev.

The Central Food Commission, including representatives of eleven governments, has been organized in London. Col. Boyle of Canada as chairman. The business of the commission is the collection and distribution of foodstuffs to the army and military population, and the authority to commander where it is necessary.

RUSS ATTACK U. S.
Papers Say America and Britain Seek to Rule World.
Petersburg, Dec. 9.—Commenting on President Wilson's message to Congress the Army and Fleet Journal pictures America and Great Britain as determined to carry on the war that they may triumph, and as seeking to rule the world, including their allies. It says: "Peace by means of war. This is the mask under which American imperialists, with their insatiable appetites, are going. America declares herself the implacable enemy of Austria-Hungary without any evidence, and without any justifying motives save covetousness and greed."

"At the moment in which Russia is putting forth efforts to end the American capitalist's talking with base hypocrisy of the horrors of war, America and Great Britain desire to have all countries, and even the two who will remain the sole victors and over the bodies of the millions that have been sacrificed divide the world. Their bourgeois are working down the dances over the bodies of 10,000,000 victims."

Says World Will Need Call.
The Isvestia, the semi-official organ of the Soldiers' and Workmen's Deputies, says: "This is the old refrain—war to a victorious end. We are sure the Krupp and all the other German and Austrian war kings are rubbing their hands with glee at the prospect of a new world war. But the mighty call of the Russian proletariat will soon be heard throughout the world and the awakened nations will force the world to peace."

Most of the newspapers aside from the Bolshevik organs still are not permitted to print.

The Isvestia publishes a letter from the former private secretary to Mme. Catherine Brashkovskaya, the "grande dame" of the Russian aristocracy, in which the aid given by the American Red Cross representatives to educational work in Russia is interpreted as "anti-Bolshevik activities."

"The Bakhtoff letter declares that Raymond Robins, head of the Red Cross mission in Russia, and two other representatives of the Red Cross, who were in Moscow capitalists to urge the postponement until the meeting of the Constituent Assembly, the consideration of the land question, and the election of the State of the Voina Naroda in reply states that Mme. Brashkovskaya is absent from Petrograd, but will return to defend herself against the unworthy attempt to blacken her reputation regarding the monetary aid advanced for the education of the Russian people by the American friends."

PUBLIC MEN ON STRIKE.
Russian Government Officials Now Sought by Bolsheviks.
Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun from London.
Copyright, 1917. All rights reserved.
Petersburg, Dec. 9.—(Delayed.) The strike of officials of the government Ministries and other public institutions continues. A regular hunt is in progress for the officials of the State Bank, who, when caught, are brought back and forced to work.

It is daily becoming more evident that the Bolsheviks are little disposed to welcome the approaching meeting of the Constituent Assembly. In the newspaper Pravda, the organ of the Bolsheviks, against the Constituent Assembly, it is said, "The national will" is significant. The truth seems to be that the Bolsheviks, having triumphed over all their opponents, both civil and military, are inclined to submit themselves to the will of the assembly in which opposing parties will obtain considerable representation.

In the election held in the provinces up to December 3 the Bolsheviks came first with 2,709,444 votes, but the Cadets run very close with 2,240,000, while the Revolutionary Socialists and the United Party, the latter having been defeated, together experienced here by polling 2,231,280.

The Government now issues a decree authorizing the local Soviets, otherwise the Councils of Workers and Soldiers Delegates, to quash the elections if, in their opinion there have been irregularities, while the military revolutionary committee has decided that the control of the elections must not be placed in the hands of the military.

The part of the palace here where the committee is running the election machine has been occupied by the military revolutionary committee. The Pravda publishes a leading article entitled "Don't play with fire," which is a tirade against the election machine. It says: "Let the bourgeoisie be careful. They have before their eyes the sad penalty of playing with fire. Gen.

Dukhovich tried to go against the will of the people and his life ended tragically. The masses will not allow themselves to be deceived by the lies of the bourgeoisie and will not go against democracy."

RUSSIA'S DEBTS VALID.
France Considers Pledges Must Be Met Despite Upheavals.
PARIS, Dec. 9.—A semi-official statement was issued this evening concerning the Russian situation. It says that the commissaries of the people in Petrograd had in view the repudiation of loans contracted by Russia abroad.

The statement says the French Government considers the financial engagements made in the name of Russia prior to the revolution are independent of the changes in the government, and that the changes that have occurred or may occur and consequently impose themselves on all these persons representing Russia. It is added that the coupons of Russian bonds due next month will be paid as such coupons previously have been.

MESSAGE USED TO BOLSTER UP FOE
"The message is an essential part of his action initiated by America and evidently with the understanding of her Allies, to disturb the negotiations between the Central Powers and Russia. To this end the United States seeks to have the Russian Government and Germany's allies. Regarding the latter, we may recall the announcement concerning the alleged imminent departure of the Russian Government from the war, which was made against Austria-Hungary, which evidently aims to divert Austria-Hungary from solidarity with Germany."

The Tagesschau Kundschauf says: "Wilson's message is a direct appeal to our enemies desire to bleed to death until Wilson considers the time has come to establish his world rule of justice."

MESSAGE IS GARBLED.
Only Part of President's Message Printed in Austria.
AMSTERDAM, Dec. 9.—The declaration of war against Austria-Hungary by the United States, while "painful" to the empire, will not effect the events of the war, in the opinion of Count Cernin, the Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister, whose speech last Tuesday is quoted by the Vienna correspondent of the Berlin Tagesschau. Referring to President Wilson's address to Congress, Count Cernin is quoted as having said: "President Wilson's speech is in many respects incomprehensible and unclear. It still remains a mystery as to what the President's manner of thinking, at least in one direction, when he says: 'We in no wise desire to harm Austria-Hungary' it is none of our affair to consider the responsibility of Austria and people." [Evidently the complete text of President Wilson's address was not published in Austria-Hungary. The text of the address in the Tagesschau is as follows: "We owe it, however, to ourselves to say that we do not wish to harm Austria-Hungary. It is no affair of ours what they do with their own life either industrially or politically."]

Interpretations Differ.
The President shows signs of making important progress which we must recognize and which it is to our interest to call down. The right of self-determination of the small states is a principle given different interpretations by various states. We find it first used by the Entente at the beginning of the war as a principle of action. It was then used to small states like Serbia and Montenegro, and later by the Central Powers.

In a note addressed to the belligerents in December, 1916, President Wilson still held to be the principle of his peace aims the safeguarding of the rights of small states. In the Pravda, the organ of the Bolsheviks, it is said that the formula that he is waging war for the liberation of foreign domination of Italians, Serbians, Rumanians, Czechs and Slovaks, and the small nations has receded into the background to be replaced by plans for the forcible separation from the monarchy of certain territories without granting the latter the right of self-determination of their future."

Alain-Lorraine Peace Objective.
To a question asked by Count Andrassy regarding the Austro-Hungarian peace policy, the German Foreign Minister Cernin is quoted in a Rupter despatch from Budapest as having replied at a meeting of the Committee for Foreign Affairs: "We are at one with Germany on the basis of a defensive war which found undivided approval in this assembly and which was laid down in the German Reichstag as the guiding line for the war. Foreign Minister von Kuhlmann in his last speech stated very clearly and in a very definite manner that we have no intention of waging a war of conquest. We are in the hands of the enemy."

A despatch received here from Budapest, dated December 8, says that the German Foreign Minister, Count Cernin, has been in an address to the Hungarian Delegation, and recently: "We cannot do without Mount Levan, which would be contrary to the vital interests of the monarchy. Nevertheless this war must not end without our insuring our strategic interests."

"We cannot do without Mount Levan, which would be contrary to the vital interests of the monarchy. Nevertheless this war must not end without our insuring our strategic interests."

The article then argues that the Allies can and ought to secure Germany's supply of raw materials. It gives an analysis of the amount of foodstuffs, oil, rubber, metal, wool, silk and cotton that Germany, prior to the war, obtained from her present enemies, as compared with the insignificant amount received from her present allies and neutrals, as proof that a refusal to supply her with such raw materials is the only way during the first years following the war, would produce a most serious economic crisis in Germany.

Austro-German Advance Is Checked, Even if It Is Not Already Defeated.
AIR RAIDERS WORK HAVOC
Fleet of 150 Craft Drop 2,000 Bombs Amid Troops Massing for Reserve.
By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Dec. 9.—Comparative quiet prevailed on the western front today, only some minor artillery action south of Cambrai, south of Lens and in the Paschendale region being reported by the British, and a raid in the Verdun section by the French. The chief interest centres in reports which are reaching London from many sources of heavy concentrations of German forces in France.

The latest of these reports says that Field Marshal von Hindenburg and Gen. von Ludendorff, reputed to be the ruling mind of the Imperial General Staff, are both on the Cambrai front, according to a despatch from Strasbourg, via Geneva.

Railway traffic through the Rhine towns has been congested for several days, owing to the flow of troops and artillery being rushed through to this front. No civilians are permitted to travel along the Rhine, and the German frontier remains closed.

Whereas the Italian victory excited little enthusiasm in Germany, the success at Cambrai, the semi-official Tagesschau is causing the greatest joy.

The war correspondent on the western front of the Tagesschau writes: "The British bombardment of Cambrai has leaving damaged about 160 houses, but has spared the cathedral untouched and causing only slight damage to the town."

The Germans, says the newspaper, removed all the treasures from the museum to Valenciennes, where the precious manuscripts in the municipal library also were taken.

A despatch received in Amsterdam from Berlin says that the president of the Prussian Diet, in reading an angry report saying that the British attempt to break through the German line near Cambrai had been transformed into a severe defeat.

"The splendid news fills us afresh with deep thankfulness to our magnificent troops and leaders, and also contributes to our confidence in the victory corresponding to the hour."

Gen. Armando Diaz, chief of staff of the Italian army, who is directing operations on the Italian front, today wrote to the Italian people: "The Italian front is feeling the continuous pressure of the enemy forces. The Italians still guard considerable portions of the front, and the British are attacking in the north. We have always been close," he added, "but now we are closer and soon will be fighting together."

MATERIALISM CONDEMNED.
Father Wickham Preaches on Importance of Spiritual Things.
In a sermon that thrilled the large congregation that filled St. Patrick's Cathedral yesterday, the Rev. John C. Wickham, superior of the New York Apostolate, declared that "the Church, which is the body of Christ, and which is his high estate, will make no covenant with any system of thought which emphasizes material standards and relegates spiritual values to a dim obscurity."

The Roman Catholic Church has always served the nations, he declared, and added that all scholars acknowledge the debt of the Church to the world. "The Church," he said, "is the body of Christ, and which is his high estate, will make no covenant with any system of thought which emphasizes material standards and relegates spiritual values to a dim obscurity."

SAYS BOLO PLANNED AMERICAN EMPIRE
Enlisted Colonists in France, Then Vanished.
Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
PARIS, Dec. 9.—Bolo Pasha's attempt to purchase control of a great French newspaper in the interest of the German propaganda was not the first international adventure of this one-time ally of the Kaiser. He later was the deposed Khedive of Egypt planned. Twenty-six years ago, according to information in the possession of Capt. Bouchardon, the military prosecutor, Bolo returned from Buenos Ayres with his pockets filled with 1,000 franc notes and went to a little town in the south of France to look for a house and a room in the best hotel, where his lavish expenditures and extravagant habits attracted general attention.

He left it known that he had received a grant of a large tract of land from the United States Government, that he intended to found an empire of which he would be the ruler and that he desired to take with him as colonists workmen of all trades, farmers, vine growers and makers, manufacturers of all kinds of goods, and that he would build a city in the vineyards of the new empire would produce.

He assured every one that all who would come to him would be rich and that he would be the ruler and that he desired to take with him as colonists workmen of all trades, farmers, vine growers and makers, manufacturers of all kinds of goods, and that he would build a city in the vineyards of the new empire would produce.
